Use scraps of coloured paper to make a collage of a Buddha statue surrounded by offerings of flowers.

You will need paper, scissors and glue to make this paper lantern. What will you use to decorate it?

Take a sheet of A4 paper and fold it in half.

Cut along the fold with straight lines. Make sure you don't go up to the edge. Unfold the paper again.

Take hold of each edge and bring them round to make a cylinder shape. Glue the sides together.

Cut out a strip of paper and stick the ends to the cylinder to make a handle.

You will then have a lamp like those hung around temples during Vesak!

How will you decorate your lamp? Will you decorate it before or after you glue it together? You could decorate your paper lantern with Buddhist symbols.

During Vesak, Buddhists eat simple vegetarian food.

You will need flour or corn tortillas. Use whatever vegetarian fillings you like! Here are some examples:

Spreadable fillings

Thick yogurt, hummus, cream cheese, mayonnaise

Vegetables and cheese

Peppers, cucumber, grated carrot, lettuce, bean sprouts, beetroot, tomato, onion, grated cheddar cheese, crumbled up blue cheese

Put the spreadable filling in the centre of your tortilla.

Add some vegetable or cheese fillings.

Fold the sides and the bottom of the tortilla. This stops the fillings falling out.

Will you need to chop any of your ingredients? You could use grilled vegetables in your wrap. Can you think of some ingredients you could use to make a sweet wrap?
